

Community Involvement in TB Care and Prevention: Towards Partnerships for Health

Author: World Health Organization

Publication Date: 2008

Format: Manual

Physical Description: 93 p.: col., ill.; annexes, refs., tables.

Language: English

Abstract:

This WHO publication provides guiding principles for countries to promote the involvement of people with TB and the community in TB care and prevention. These recommendations are designed to support health policy-makers – and patients' groups and local partners – in including community involvement activities in national strategic plans to control TB. The recommendations also offer advice on how to fund this work and successfully scale up approaches that have worked effectively.
